

SLO Presentation

POLITICAL SCIENCE

Date: 08/24/2017

Social Sciences
POLITICAL SCIENCE
CLO
POL SCI001 - THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Use objective and subjective analysis to evaluate the significance of a political issue, event, trend, or development.• Assess their participation in civic engagement (service learning, collective action, or individual action), sharing their experience with classmates.
POL SCI002 - MODERN WORLD GOVERNMENTS <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Evaluate and analyze the institutions, processes and values that shape politics within and among nations and states and be able to apply that knowledge to the world.• Analyze the major theories, concepts, foundations, and methodologies used in the study of comparative politics. Students explore the complex interrelationships between political, economic, social, cultural, and historical forces.
POL SCI005 - THE HISTORY OF WESTERN POLITICAL THOUGHT <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Analyze and evaluate major traditions of western political theory and their critics from Greece through the modern era.• Assess and analyze the theoretical foundations of enduring political questions including the role of the state, the obligation of citizens/subjects to the state and vice versa, basic values that should be pursued, and to what end, and by what means those values should be pursued.
POL SCI007 - CONTEMPORARY WORLD AFFAIRS <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Analyze and apply International Relations concepts and theories to specific case examples.• Evaluate the actors (states, international organizations, non-governmental organizations, and other global actors) participating in world affairs and assess their overall effect on global politics.
POL SCI019 - WOMEN IN POLITICS <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Evaluate women's representation and participation in American politics and the electoral process.• Analyze the evolution over time of women's roles and gender dynamics in the political sphere.
POL SCI050 - INTRODUCTION TO RESEARCH IN POLITICAL SCIENCE <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Create an empirically grounded and theoretically based research project based on credible information, primary and secondary sources, and clear logical prose• Create an empirically grounded and theoretically based research project based on credible information, primary and secondary sources, and clear logical prose.• Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of major methods of political inquiry including research design, data collection, empiricism, statistical analysis, qualitative analysis, computer applications, hypothesis testing, structured observation, and textual analysis.
POL SCI185 - DIRECTED STUDY - POLITICAL SCIENCE <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Demonstrate defined mastery of course content through homework, projects, quizzes, and/or exams.
POL SCI285 - DIRECTED STUDY - POLITICAL SCIENCE <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Demonstrate defined mastery of course content through homework, projects, quizzes, and/or exams.
POL SCI385 - DIRECTED STUDY - POLITICAL SCIENCE <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Demonstrate defined mastery of course content through homework, projects, quizzes, and/or exams.